

Kaurath 2.0

Rulebook contributions by:

Artemas Rookman

Dan Comstock

Dawn Locke

Sam Stone

Sean Croteau

Stephen Tihor

Version: 2.0.5 (Fennel) 2019-01-15

Chapter 0: Theme	7
Safety and -isms	7
Inclusivity	8
Accessibility	8
Code of Conduct	8
Nobility	9
Gestures	9
Hand Gestures/Check in Gestures	10
Are you ok? Checking in.	10
I am ok/This is all in character	10
I am not ok/I need this action to stop	10
Content Warning	11
Fit for Live Action Gaming and General Site Rules	11
Chapter 1: Base Rules	13
Rules of Etiquette	13
Always In Game	14
Combat	20
The Flurry Rule	22
Death	27
Spirits of The Dead	28
Effect Listing	31
Chapter 2: Kaurath Specific Rules	53
Starting Characters!	53
CP Caps and Retirement	53
Death	54
Death by Choice	55
Attributes	56
Base Attributes	56
Aegis	57
Threat	57
Clarity	57
Determination	58
Unified Base Attribute	58
Vitality	58

Full Refresh	58
Maximum Attribute Totals and Pool Totals	59
Armor Points	59
Evaluating Armor and Armor Coverage	60
Heavy Armor	61
Medium Armor	61
Light Armor	61
Sanctuaries	61
Cabins	62
Safe Spaces	62
Talismans	63
Definitions	63
Short Rest	63
Rest	63
Long Rest	63
Day	63
Non-Combat	63
Hearth	64
Sustain	64
Attune	65
Formal Duel	65
Skill Tags	65
Information Skill	65
Full Refresh	65
Per Day	65
Per Event	65
Runic	66
Tattoo	66
From Behind	66
Spirit Form	66
Performance Required	66
Traits	66
Elemental Traits	67
Mental Traits	67
Metabolic Traits	67
Physical Traits	68
Special Traits	68

Domain Traits	70
Communities	70
Create a new community	71
Induct a new member	71
Remove a member	71
Leaving a Community	71
Chapter 3: Characters and Their Origins	72
Cultures	72
Hearth	72
Road	72
Sailborne	72
Wild	72
Races	74
Elbaels	74
Gnomes	75
Greenskins	76
Humans	77
Lacuna	77
Pacted	78
The Pact of the Willful	78
The Pact of the Paragon	79
The Pact of the Guide	79
The Pact of the Burdened	79
Weirkin	80
Importing Previous Characters	80
Chapter 4: Headers	81
Base Headers	81
Berserker	81
Crafter	84
Mage	88
Rogue	96
Warchanter	99
Warrior	102
Open Skills	104
Companion Spirit	111
Companion Spirit [Name]	112

Prestige Headers	114
Apothecary	114
Argent	117
Bloodrager	119
Composer	121
Enchanter	123
Forte	126
Fury	128
Hammerfall	130
Rageshaper	132
Rampager	134
Shadow Hexer	136
Skald	139
Spelldancer	141
Spellsword	143
Swashbuckler	145
Chapter 5: Purist	147
Pure Berserker	147
Pure Crafter	151
Pure Mage	155
Pure Rogue	161
Pure Warchanter	164
Pure Warrior	168
Advanced Headers and Rules	171
Dragon Mage	171
Rune Mage	171
Mentalist	171
Deities	174
Domains of Power	174
Mental Contact	174
Possession	175
Chapter 6: Crafting	176
Items	176
Crafted Items	176
Sustainable Items	176
Crafting Items used to Sustain items	177

Example	177
Enhancing Items	177
Rule changes	177
Ingredients	177
Cooperation	178
Gathering Ingredients	178
Alchemy Ingredients	179
Potion Ingredients	179
Shaping Ingredients	179
Tinkering/Rune Projector Ingredients	179
Storage	180
Recipes	180
Alchemist	180
Potion Brewer	182
Shaper	183
Rune Projector	185
Tinkerer	186
Chapter 7: Ritual Magic	188
Chapter 8: Magic Schools and Spells	188
Spell lists	188
Augmentation	189
Invocation	190
Necromancy	191
Appendix: Change Log	192
Fennel	192
Eggplant	192
Durham	193
Carrot	194
Blueberry	195
Apple	196

Chapter 0: Theme

This Live Action Roleplaying Game (LARP) has been designed as a continuing high fantasy campaign game to explore themes of conflict, entropy, oppression, institutional slavery, dictatorships, community, religious interpretation, cultural modification and elimination, what brings us together, and what drives us apart.

This game is intended as a player versus environment (PvE) game for physical conflicts unless consent is given for character versus character (CvC) physical conflict. All other rules of contact still apply when consent is given for physical conflict. Player versus player (PvP) conflicts are intended to be role play based though they can be resolved through the option of a “Formal Duel” if both players consent.

To meet these ends, we have decided to craft a world where people of various levels of experience, both in and out of game, can affect change in the world around them.

The people of Kaurath have recently undergone a great change. They’ve left their world behind, some of their friends, and now they find themselves in a strange new world. They find themselves in unfamiliar bodies, ones adapted for this new world, but remember all their previous experiences. They recently defeated their greatest foe and their kingdom was torn apart in the process and sent scattered from the world. The kingdom they knew is half of what it was. It still resembles what they’ve seen on maps, but it is no longer the parts of the maps they’ve walked before. It is unfamiliar terrain and a path through the mountain. Soon they will discover what it was that lived outside the barrier. What they’d been protected from for so long.

Safety and -isms

We designed the world of Kaurath to be inclusive and not subject to the ethnocentric racism and misogyny that are often falsely attributed as a constant of medieval and ancient cultures. To be clear, we strongly condemn the ideology of white supremacy that has been co-opted by hate groups as well any doctrines encouraging religious intolerance. While medieval and ancient earth was a violent place filled with tragedy, we have sought to break down social barriers, and will not tolerate the use of real world bigotry or ‘isms.’

The world of Kaurath has its own social barriers to overcome and real world ‘isms’ are simply not welcome. For example, though this experience features themes of legacy and the feuding of cultures, heirs are chosen on merit rather than gender or orientation and aren’t necessarily even related by blood. A woman’s worth is in no way defined by her ability to have children, and age is not considered a burden but something to be respected. Likewise, we want to make it clear that our written cultures are not intended to be racial divides. Due to generations of intermingling and raiding, ethnocentrism and discrimination based on the color of one's skin is impractical.

This underscores our real-world commitment to center conflict in Kaurath around familial and kingdom tensions, not race.

Through all of this, we seek to provide a safe, consent driven narrative. If you feel you are unable to participate in collaborative storytelling and creating a safe space, then this experience is not for you.

Criminal actions witnessed by staff members may be reported to local authorities at staff's choice. The default is to report these actions. Players may choose to bring a criminal action that has made them uncomfortable to staff's attention and request local authorities deal with the problem, or they may request that the action be kept quiet.

Inclusivity

Kaurath will be a better experience without real world sexism, homophobia or transphobia, ableism, or racism. We ask that our participants respect this decision and avoid language or behaviors that could be interpreted as breaking this rule.

To be clear, participants who harass other players or break this rule will be removed from the experience.

Accessibility

Kaurath has been designed to accommodate a wide variety of play styles and levels of physicality. In medieval sagas, having skill at board games or being able to recite poetry was just as important as skill in arms. We want to reflect that in the world of Kaurath as well. This means that you don't have to be a warrior or lead troops in battle to enjoy the experience or be an important and respected member of your community.

That said, game sites often have some challenging terrain. We will try to accommodate the play experience for people who can't travel across distances, but it is often slippery and much of it is not wheelchair accessible.

Code of Conduct

Kaurath is a heroic sword and sorcery game set in an alternate earth-like world. Our story and setting have created a more gender and racially inclusive cultural situation than was the case in our own history. However, the thematic time period represented was dirty and violent and some controversial themes may come up in role play scenes. We ask that every player be respectful and considerate to each other.

As mentioned, overt, offensive, racist or sexist slurs aimed at any player's real or depicted race or gender will not be tolerated, but there is more to consider. A live event is one-part theater production, one part improvised: If your plan is to portray a character with controversial personal opinions or material in their backstory, we encourage you to talk with your fellow players about your role play and intentions before and after game.

Nobility

Those who attain noble title in game are expected to act in a manner that promotes inclusion in the game. This includes seeking those who are not actively involved in major plots and stories and adding them in if possible. If you are a noble and notice a player who had not been included in several encounters make an effort to find out if that is by choice. If they have not been involved because they have not been invited you should find ways to get them involved. If there is not story they wish to engage find out what they will engage if possible and get some feedback to staff/cast so it can be addressed. By taking on a noble title you become a liaison between the staff/cast and the player base. If you are not comfortable with this role you should seek other means of advancing your character goals.

Nobles will be heavily involved in character versus character drama when dispensing justice in accordance with in game laws. This may involve enforcing things that some characters actively seek to ignore. While you should still act in character in these scenarios, it is crucial to not let this turn into a method to bully players. If a character wants to engage in illegal activities per in game laws do not follow them around everywhere so they cannot enjoy their character. But keep them on their toes so they know their actions are being noted. This is a fine line. But as a noble it is your responsibility to ensure the player can still have fun. When a player conflict comes up that can it be resolved with role play, it should be handled in a Formal Duel. Once the Formal Duel is over the dispute should be considered resolved. This is so that all players may experience conflict but so they have a way to end the conflict without permanently ruining play experience.

A Formal Duel is intended to be a scene where both characters act out their conflict through physical aggression. Whatever the outcome of the Formal Duel, which depends on the terms agreed to by the players involved, that particular conflict should be considered settled until new incidents arise. This keeps the past settled and does not let conflict gain momentum over time.

Gestures

In this campaign we will be employing the use of specific gestures to indicate when you need a break from interaction and to check in during interactions. Check in gestures are entirely out of game and cannot be prevented by any effect.

Hand Gestures/Check in Gestures

Three hand gestures will be used for checking in. These require you to point from one shoulder to the opposite shoulder. This should be done with a tapping motion to draw attention to the gesture. This may be reinforced with tapping on your chest if your gesture is being ignored.

If you need to, seek out staff member help.

This is meant to create a positive collaborative experience and is subject to all harassment policies in regards to if an issue has been communicated.

This is never intended to be used as a way to avoid consequences for character actions and using this in such a manner may result in being asked to leave play.

Are you ok? Checking in.

To check in, point with one finger to your opposing shoulder in view of the player you are checking in with.

I am ok/This is all in character

To respond to a check in, or to communicate that the current action is acceptable to your play experience if you see hesitation, point with two fingers to the opposing shoulder in view of the player you are checking in with.

I am not ok/I need this action to stop

This is the most critical check in gesture. To respond to a check in or to communicate that the current action/interaction is not acceptable to your play experience, motion to your opposing shoulder with a closed fist in view of the player you are checking in with. You are encouraged, but not required to communicate the issue.

At any time you may signal this gesture for any reason. You should not be questioned about why you are making this gesture. It is expected that all players involved in an interaction where this gesture is made take every effort to cease the action that is causing an issue and/or move the offending interaction out of sight and hearing of the person using this gesture.

If you are using this gesture and the interaction that causes issue does not stop, you may call "Imbue to Spirit" and leave the interaction, returning to either a Sanctuary or a Safe Space away from any roleplaying and combat and calling "Purge Spirit" to come back into play. Take as much time as you need to get comfortable before returning.

Content Warning

Kaurath contains depictions of violence. It also contains the occasional use of: loud noises, fog machines, fireworks, smoke, flashing lights and absence of light, depictions of bigotry, depictions of abuse, depictions of graphic violence and injury and disrespect of religions that while based in fantasy, may bear similarities to real world religions.

Kaurath can have a strong horror or violence theme. Players may be subject to intentionally frightening or shocking stimulation. Though set in a fantasy world, Kaurath will endeavor to maintain a considerate and researched narrative approach when dealing with depictions of minorities and other marginalized groups. Kaurath will not ever condone the use of sexual assault or rape themes in depicted scenes.

Some players will want to explore darker themes which might echo traumatic real world issues for other players. Some of these topics should only appear in backstories and even conversations about those aspect of the character's life need to be handled carefully and respectfully with your audience. Use the check-in gestures when these topics come up and be polite to others who signal that this is not something they can roleplay.

Fit for Live Action Gaming and General Site Rules

If you have a medical condition including a need to take drugs of any sort we expect you to have gotten medical clearance to play from an appropriate and fully informed medical professional.

We don't need to see it, but we do require our players to have to get that clearance. If you fail to do so or lie about medical clearance we must regretfully ask you to leave.

If you want to do something illegal under state or federal law or in violation of site policy do it elsewhere. Our insurance and agreements with our sites impose restrictions including the need to abide by those laws. Failing to do so risks our game and thus we will need to ask you to leave immediately and notify the appropriate parties.

Do not LARP impaired. Specifically, do not play while under the influence of alcohol or any other judgement impairing drugs, prescription or otherwise. To avoid problems we ask that no one uses alcohol, illegal drugs, or marijuana on site. For legal drugs we ask you get clearance from an appropriate health professional.

Do not smoke around people. Participants and staff have allergies and respiratory issues aggravated by smoke. For safety reasons we restrict smoking and vaping to a small non-game area away from play.

As a matter of fairness do not hold in game conversations in such areas or while using these substances since it prevents players from participating in the roleplay.

Also note that our cabins are shared spaces, both with other LARPer during events, and used by others including young people on other days so it is vital that they are clean when you leave.

We expect and require you to work out issues with your cabin mates, avoiding things which upset them or will cause them problems where possible, and discussing your concerns in a reasonable, calm and polite way.

Some of our players are families with children and we expect responsible adult behavior around them too.

We expect our players to be responsible (or under responsible guardianship) and thus able to exercise good judgment.

As our game is based on trusting each other if we can not trust you in any given area we need to be concerned that we can not trust you in other key areas as well and that this may not be the LARP and community for you.

This section of rules can be summarized as “Be a calm, sensible, and reasonable person” and “discuss any issues calmly and work out a sane compromise” and “Do nothing risky or illegal as a player - regardless of your character’s morality.”